CITY OF MERCED GENERAL PLAN UPDATE

The City has adopted a Draft growth boundary that covers over 43,000 acres (double the size of the existing boundary) and could accommodate nearly ½ a million people (see below). This represents at least 40-50 years of growth, but what about the next 20 years? Please come hear about the options and give us your comments about what the 20-year growth boundary should look like.

Thursday, April 12, 2007
